Market Review

The international equity market was buoyant in May with the MSCI All Country Index excluding Australia rising by 1.6%. Noticeable gains came from Europe (3%), Taiwan (4.8%), and the US (2.3%). A highlight in the US market was corporate earnings, which exceeded market forecasts by more than 8%, with year-over-year growth nearly reaching 8%. All 11 sectors surpassed market expectations, although healthcare, energy, and materials showed negative year-over-year growth.

The latest US macroeconomic data indicated signs of economic resilience. Initial jobless claims dropped, and PMI indices rose sharply, with the PMI composite at 54.4, up from 51.2 in April. The University of Michigan's sentiment index also exceeded expectations, reaching 69.1. US inflation for April cooled to 3.4% from 3.5%, with core inflation at 3.6%, down from 3.8% in March. The core PCE index remained stable at 2.8%, signalling positive progress for monetary policymakers.

International fixed interest returned to positive territory in May, gaining 0.8%. Despite some recovery, the treasury sector continues to underperform the broader sector. The credit sector was the prominent contributor in May, with spreads of major investment-grade indices in both Europe and the US trading within a handful of basis points at historically high valuation levels.

The AUD continued its recovery trend that started in April, gaining 2.8% in May and ending at 0.6654 USD. The recent AUD strength is attributable to a hawkish stance by the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) and hotter-than-expected monthly CPI data, which dampened hopes for a rate cut. The RBA met on 7 May and decided to leave the cash rate unchanged at 4.35%, as widely anticipated. Governor Bullock noted that the process of returning inflation to target is unlikely to be smooth. Although a rate hike was considered, the Board believes current rates are appropriate to bring inflation back to target.

Australian fixed interest ended the month with a gain of 0.4%, while the Australian equity market grew by 0.5%. The information technology sector led the index, gaining 5.4%, buoyed by strong performances from Xero (10.6%), Life360 (11.1%), and Technology One (9.8%). Technology One delivered a strong first-half result for 2024, with double-digit revenue and profit growth driven by continued uptake of its cloud-based model, replacing the on-premises annual license fee model. Life360's market re-rating supported its share price, reflecting solid growth in monthly active users and improving user retention.

The global infrastructure market also generated a positive return in May of 5%, driven by the utilities sector, as the market anticipates higher global power demand due to AI. Meanwhile, the property market also posted a strong return of 3.7%, benefiting from lower US bond yields stemming from the more benign US inflation data for April.

The Morningstar Historical Corporate Sustainability Score is a weighted average of the trailing 12 months of Morningstar Portfolio Corporate Sustainability Scores. Historical portfolio scores are not equal-weighted; rather, more-recent portfolios are weighted more heavily than older portfolios. Combining the trailing 12 months of portfolio scores adds consistency while still reflecting portfolio managers' current decisions by weighting the most recent portfolio scores more heavily.

ESG pillar scores are displayed as a number between 0 and 100 with most scores range between 0 and 25. It is the asset-weighted average of the company environmental, social, governance risk scores for the covered corporate holdings in a portfolio. The scores measure the degree to which a company's economic value may be at risk driven by environmental, social, and governance factors. The risk represents the unmanaged risk exposure after taking into account a company's management of such risks.

The Portfolio Unallocated ESG Risk Score represents the unmanaged ESG risk exposure to companies assigned an ESG Risk Rating, but whose risk is not decomposed into environmental, social and governance components. Calculated as the asset-weighted average of the company ESG Risk scores for the covered holdings in a portfolio that do not have E/S/G risk scores, unallocated ESG risk is displayed as a number between 0 and 100, where lower is better. Together, the four portfolio pillar score data points- Environmental Risk Score, Social Risk Score, Governance Risk Score, and Unallocated ESG Risk Score- will add up to a portfolio's Sustainability Score.
