Market Review

Global equity markets delivered robust returns in June 2025, with investor optimism prevailing over a backdrop of geopolitical tensions and policy uncertainty. The U.S. stock market led the rally, powered by strength in mega-cap technology stocks and enthusiasm around artificial intelligence. The S&P 500 climbed 5.1% during the month, pushing its year-to-date return to 6.2% including dividends. The tech-heavy Nasdaq outperformed with a 6.6% monthly gain, bringing its total return for the year to 3.6%.

While mid-cap and small-cap U.S. equities posted positive monthly returns, up 3.4% and 3.9% respectively, they remained negative for the year overall. Market breadth in the S&P 500 was moderately constructive, with 340 stocks rising and 163 declining in June.

Internationally, equities also advanced, with the MSCI AC World Index gaining 3.9% in local currency terms. Emerging markets outpaced developed markets, returning 5.0%. Chinese stocks rebounded strongly on progress toward a partial trade deal, even as signs of economic softness persisted. In Asia, South Korea's KOSPI performed well following the election of a market-friendly administration, while Taiwan and Hong Kong equities were buoyed by ongoing AI-driven momentum.

Technology led all other sectors with a 9.9% monthly gain, driven by strong performance in semiconductors and technology hardware. Consumer Discretionary rose 7.3%, while Energy climbed 4.9%, helped by a temporary spike in oil prices. Consumer Staples was the only sector to fall, down 1.6% during the month.

Despite notable geopolitical developments, including a ceasefire agreement between Iran and Israel and ongoing U.S. diplomatic discussions, markets remained relatively stable. Volatility remained subdued overall, although the VIX briefly spiked above 21 mid-month amid heightened headline risk.

Australia's ASX 200 rose 1.4% in June, as expectations of further interest rate cuts supported risk sentiment. Energy (+9.0%), Financials (+4.3%), and Real Estate (+1.7%) led the gains, while Materials (-3.1%) lagged.

Bond markets saw yields decline globally, driven by expectations of monetary easing. U.S. Treasury yields fell across the curve, with the 2-year yield down 0.18%. Similarly, Australia's 10-year government bond yield dropped 0.11% to 4.16%.

In currency markets, the U.S. dollar weakened sharply, falling 2.5% in June, as measured by the DXY Index. The Australian dollar and most Asian currencies appreciated, supported by stronger local equity performance.

Despite ongoing uncertainties, markets ended the first half of 2025 on a strong footing, with technology leadership and easing interest rate expectations underpinning gains across global equities..

The Morningstar Historical Corporate Sustainability Score is a weighted average of the trailing 12 months of Morningstar Portfolio Corporate Sustainability Scores. Historical portfolio scores are not equal-weighted; rather, more-recent portfolios are weighted more heavily than older portfolios. Combining the trailing 12 months of portfolio scores adds consistency while still reflecting portfolio managers' current decisions by weighting the most recent portfolio scores more heavily.

ESG pillar scores are displayed as a number between 0 and 100 with most scores range between 0 and 25. It is the asset-weighted average of the company environmental, social, governance risk scores for the covered corporate holdings in a portfolio. The scores measure the degree to which a company's economic value may be at risk driven by environmental, social, and governance factors. The risk represents the unmanaged risk exposure after taking into account a company's management of such risks.

The Portfolio Unallocated ESG Risk Score represents the unmanaged ESG risk exposure to companies assigned an ESG Risk Rating, but whose risk is not decomposed into environmental, social and governance components. Calculated as the asset-weighted average of the company ESG Risk scores for the covered holdings in a portfolio that do not have E/S/G risk scores, unallocated ESG risk is displayed as a number between 0 and 100, where lower is better. Together, the four portfolio pillar score data points- Environmental Risk Score, Social Risk Score, Governance Risk Score, and Unallocated ESG Risk Score- will add up to a portfolio's Sustainability Score.
